

MEGACITY — Cities & Settlements

The inhabited places of the world - the cities and the settlements where people live.

What is in here. Every city and settlement in the world: your own city, 11 other cities, and 33 settlements and towns, each with its controlling faction, population, standing toward you, and its description. Places still marked undiscovered are shown with the intelligence gathered so far. Rival nations, the many outposts, ruins and landmarks, resource sites, and your city's internal districts are not included here - I can add any of those if you want them.

YOUR CITY 1

MEGACITY
PLAYER · 1,000,000 RESIDENTS

ALLIED

Your city. One million citizens. Two hundred and seventy sectors. One marshal to hold it all together. Good luck.

CITIES 11

Ashfall Dominion
ALLEGIANCE UNKNOWN · POPULATION UNKNOWN

UNDISCOVERED

Built in the shadow of three active volcanoes. Geothermal-powered. The ash never stops falling. Their ambassador arrived once, said nothing, and left a sealed container. Inside: human teeth.

Aureus Dominion
AUREUS DOMINION · 5,500,000 RESIDENTS

NEUTRAL

Corporate oligarchy. Citizenship is purchased. The 200 wealthiest families run everything. They respect power and profit.

Crimson Reach
ALLEGIANCE UNKNOWN · POPULATION UNKNOWN

UNDISCOVERED

Blood-red industrial hellscape. Massive smokestacks. Caste-based society built around perpetual warfare.

Ghost Meridian
ALLEGIANCE UNKNOWN · POPULATION UNKNOWN

UNDISCOVERED

Subterranean metropolis beyond the salt flats. Heat signatures confirm habitation. Scouts don't return.

Helix Commune
HELIX COMMUNE · 1,800,000 RESIDENTS

NEUTRAL

Biotech utopia. Neural-link democracy. Every citizen votes in real-time through cranial implants. Deeply suspicious of authority.

Neon Shogunate
NEON SHOGUNATE · 3,200,000 RESIDENTS

NEUTRAL

Techno-feudal state. AI shoguns govern with absolute efficiency. They despise chaos. Sever ties at instability's first sign.

New Olympus
ALLEGIANCE UNKNOWN · POPULATION UNKNOWN

UNDISCOVERED

Mountain fortress-city rumoured to be governed by a council of uploaded human minds. They consider biological governance primitive.

Nova Pacifica
NOVA PACIFICA · 4,200,000 RESIDENTS

NEUTRAL

Coastal trade hub. Progressive governance. Chancellor Solenne maintains open comms — for now. Trust, but verify.

Terminus Prime
ALLEGIANCE UNKNOWN · POPULATION UNKNOWN

UNDISCOVERED

Orbital telescopes detected structured light patterns deep in the southern wastes. A city built inside a crater — or something pretending to be one. Signals bounce back wrong.

The Panopticon
ALLEGIANCE UNKNOWN · POPULATION UNKNOWN

UNDISCOVERED

A surveillance state so total its citizens don't know where the city ends and the watching begins. Intercepted broadcasts suggest 'perfect compliance scores.'

The Recursion

UNDISCOVERED

ALLEGIANCE UNKNOWN · POPULATION UNKNOWN

Satellite scans show a city. Ground teams find nothing.
Satellite scans show a city. Ground teams find nothing.
Satellite scans show a city.

SETTLEMENTS & TOWNS 33

Ashmouth

UNDISCOVERED

INDEPENDENT · 3,800 RESIDENTS

Mining town at the mouth of a collapsed tunnel network. They dig deep. Sometimes things dig back.

Blackridge

HOSTILE

INDEPENDENT · 4,500 RESIDENTS

Militant outpost refusing megacity authority. Armed to the teeth. Negotiations stalled.

Bunker 84

UNDISCOVERED

INDEPENDENT · 2,000 RESIDENTS

Pre-war military bunker complex. Original occupants' descendants still follow a chain of command from a war that ended 90 years ago.

Burnside

UNDISCOVERED

INDEPENDENT · 2,200 RESIDENTS

Township permanently on fire. Not metaphorically. An underground coal seam ignited thirty years ago. Residents adapted.

Candleholm

UNDISCOVERED

INDEPENDENT · 1,400 RESIDENTS

Peaceful settlement of artisans who make candles, soap, and explosives. The last one is supposedly accidental.

Candlewick

UNDISCOVERED

INDEPENDENT · 900 RESIDENTS

Religious commune living without electricity. They burn candles and pray for the old world. Surprisingly well-fed.

Chem Springs

NEUTRAL

INDEPENDENT · 2,800 RESIDENTS

Hot springs laced with industrial runoff. The locals swear the water has 'healing properties.' Skin condition rates say otherwise.

Copper Hills

UNDISCOVERED

INDEPENDENT · 3,100 RESIDENTS

Mining settlement extracting copper from oxidized hillsides. Everything is green. The water, the soil, the residents' teeth.

Dredge Port

UNDISCOVERED

INDEPENDENT · 4,800 RESIDENTS

Harbour settlement built on reclaimed cargo containers. Fishermen haul in catches with three eyes and no bones.

Dusthaven

ALLIED

INDEPENDENT · 3,000 RESIDENTS

Scrappy frontier settlement. 3,000 souls surviving on reclaimed water and stubbornness.

Ember Falls

UNDISCOVERED

INDEPENDENT · 7,000 RESIDENTS

Geothermal settlement over volcanic vents. Free heating. Occasional lava. Worth the tradeoff.

Fort Stern

ALLIED

INDEPENDENT · 5,500 RESIDENTS

Ex-military garrison turned independent township. Discipline intact. Officers salute from habit.

Ghost Relay

UNDISCOVERED

INDEPENDENT · 800 RESIDENTS

Abandoned satellite uplink station on the edge of the Glass Desert. Someone reactivated it. Signals come out. Nobody goes in.

Glasstown

UNDISCOVERED

INDEPENDENT · 2,600 RESIDENTS

Settlement in the ruins of a pre-war greenhouse complex. Translucent walls. No privacy. Exceptional tomatoes.

Greywater

NEUTRAL

INDEPENDENT · 4,000 RESIDENTS

Desalination settlement. They make clean water from sludge. Heroes, if you ask the thirsty. Profiteers, if you ask them.

Irongate

ALLIED

INDEPENDENT · 8,500 RESIDENTS

Fortified mining town in a canyon wall. Raw ore for protection. Simple arrangement.

Market Crossing

INDEPENDENT · 8,000 RESIDENTS

NEUTRAL

Trade junction where three old highways intersect. Everything passes through. Everyone takes a cut.

Mireholm

INDEPENDENT · 6,000 RESIDENTS

NEUTRAL

Swamp settlement of mutant refugees. They want medicine and recognition. The Council wants them gone.

New Eden

INDEPENDENT · 1,200 RESIDENTS

ALLIED

Agricultural idealists growing real food in irradiated soil. Admirable. Probably doomed.

Pilgrim Station

INDEPENDENT · 2,000 RESIDENTS

NEUTRAL

Waystation for wasteland travellers. Neutral ground by tradition. Violence is bad for business.

Piston Camp

INDEPENDENT · 4,200 RESIDENTS

UNDISCOVERED

Vehicle graveyard turned into a township. Everything runs on salvaged engines. The air tastes like exhaust. Children are named after car parts.

Port Sulphur

INDEPENDENT · 5,200 RESIDENTS

NEUTRAL

Toxic coastal settlement. Chemical reclamation. The air smells like death. Business booms.

Relay Station 12

INDEPENDENT · 1,800 RESIDENTS

UNDISCOVERED

Former communications hub. Massive antenna array still broadcasts. Population guards it jealously — whoever controls the signal controls the narrative.

Rustfield

INDEPENDENT · 4,200 RESIDENTS

NEUTRAL

Former agricultural zone. The soil turned red decades ago. Now they farm rust and despair.

Scaffold

INDEPENDENT · 6,500 RESIDENTS

NEUTRAL

Built vertically on the skeleton of an unfinished arcology. Forty stories of makeshift floors, rope bridges, and vertigo.

Scrapyard City

INDEPENDENT · 12,000 RESIDENTS

NEUTRAL

Everything recycled, repurposed, or stolen. Population is a rough estimate at best.

Silo Nine

INDEPENDENT · 1,500 RESIDENTS

UNDISCOVERED

Built around a decommissioned missile silo. The warheads are supposedly gone. Supposedly.

Sky Haven

INDEPENDENT · 900 RESIDENTS

UNDISCOVERED

Settlement built on the upper floors of a collapsed megatower. Accessible only by rope bridges. Above the smog line. Almost breathable air.

Sunken Arcadia

INDEPENDENT · 2,200 RESIDENTS

UNDISCOVERED

A flooded pre-war luxury resort that sank into a lake of industrial runoff. Residents live on rafts and in sealed underwater modules.

The Crucible

INDEPENDENT · 1,500 RESIDENTS

UNDISCOVERED

A weapons testing facility that went dark during the Last War. Automated forges still run. Settlers became arms dealers.

The Echo Chamber

INDEPENDENT · 600 RESIDENTS

UNDISCOVERED

A pre-war government bunker containing every classified file from the old world. The settlers trade in secrets. Everyone wants what they know.

Thornwall

INDEPENDENT · 5,800 RESIDENTS

UNDISCOVERED

Walled settlement surrounded by genetically-engineered thorn hedges. 30 metres high. Nothing gets in. Occasionally, nothing gets out.

Vault Town

INDEPENDENT · 3,500 RESIDENTS

UNDISCOVERED

Built around a sealed pre-war bunker. Nobody knows what's inside. Nobody's brave enough to look.